

Employee Leave Policy

Employees are allowed 20 days of annual leave every year. Annual leave should be requested in advance and approved by the employee's manager.

Sick leave can be taken when an employee is unwell. Employees should inform their manager as soon as possible when they are unable to work due to illness.

Unused annual leave may be carried forward only when permitted by company policy and with manager approval.

Security and Access Policy

Production database access requires manager approval and authorization from the security team.

Employees must change their passwords every 90 days and should never share passwords with another employee.

All security incidents must be reported to the security team as soon as they are discovered.

IT Support Policy

Employees who experience application or hardware problems should first contact the IT support team.

Critical production issues should be escalated immediately to the production support team.

Routine support requests should include the employee name, department, problem description, and any available error message.
